W. J. Darby, Esq.,
"Mail and Empire",

Toronto.

Dear Sir:

I acknowledge with thanks your kindness in sending me a copy of the latest edition of the British Empire Universities Modern English Dictionary. I shall be glad to keep it on my table and look through it as quickly as I can in order to be able to express some opinion as to its merits. I should judge from the list of editorial contributors that it will be carried through in a scholarly fashion, and the first glance would lead me to think that it would be very useful for short references.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Frank Darling, Esc.!,

Toronto.

Dear Mr. Darling:

I am returning to you a draft of your pamphlet which I have read twice with a great deal of interest. I have appended a few notes dealing with matters which you have covered elsewhere in the pamphlet, though it seemed to me that in one case a little more emphasis might be given even if it means a repetition.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Mr. Harry Davis,

Dear Sir:

I am sending your letter of application for enlistment in the battery of artillery to Colonel Lang, who with his staff will have to pass on all such applications.

Dear Sir:

I am much interested in your letter and should like to go to Peterborough to help you in the work of your Overseas Club, but I am sorry that from now on my time is so occupied that I cannot get in a day for you. This is a very busy period of the year after the closing of the session, and in addition to that I have a number of outside engagements.

Yours sincerely,

President Falconer

University of Toronto

Dear Sir,

Do you think it would be possible to form a University Field Battery? I am sure that there are many graduates and students who would like to enter the service with a University Company and yet prefer the artillery to infantry work.

Should the Government not be prepared to equip such a unit, undoubtedly funds sufficient for the purpose could be obtained by calling the matter to the attention of University graduates, emphasizing the fact that those who are unable to perform active military service should assume a financial burden. One of the reasons for the slowness in recruiting is the fact that many of the citizens who denounce young men for not offering their lives, have not made a sacrifice to the extent of causing themselves the slightest discomfort and an appeal based on this fact might bring good results.

Hoping that you will give this matter your consideration, I am,

Yours respectfully
E. W. Deverall

University of Toronto

Dear Sir

Will you kindly give me the particulars of the Imperial Army Commissions or put me in touch with the gentlemen in charge of the matter?

I took the infantry training with "I" company C. O. T. C. last year and attended the camp but I would prefer a commission in the Artillery or Engineers if such were available.

Hoping that you will grant me this favor and thanking you in anticipation, I am,

yours faithfully

I am directed by the President to acknowledge the receipt of your letter and to say that if you will communicate with Colonel W. R. Rev. G. Dickie,
49 Cedar Crescent,
St. John, N.B.

My dear Dickie:

I have just written to Mr. Lang on your behalf. I regret, however, that you are thinking of leaving Canada and going to Pueblo. I should think that a far brighter future awaits you in Canada than in the United States. I do not agree with you that the West does not look to the East for men. I think that if you will consider the number from the Maritime Provinces who have come to Ontario and farther West in the last ten years you will be surprised.

I have very little opportunity of knowing the needs of the congregations, but occasionally men speak to me, and if you would like to come West I shall be glad to mention your name should I see any opening that I think would be suitable for you. Ten years is a good long time for a man to be in a large city Church, especially when he went to it as young as you did. I do not wonder that you want to change. I hope, however, that it will be in Canada rather than out of it.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Dear Sir or Madam,

It has been thought that a pin, which would indicate the fact of Life Membership in the Canadian Red Cross Society, would be appreciated by those now enrolled, and would be a factor in securing other Life Members who would value such a tangible memento many years after the War should end.

You will please find such a pin enclosed and it is hoped that you will wear it to show your sympathy and interest in the great work of the Society.

Your active assistance in inducing others to become Life Members is earnestly requested.

Dear Sir,

I am taking this liberty of writing to you for some information upon a certain subject. A brother of mine has recently graduate from your college and I expect I enter in a 4th year. My brother's name was Lieut. W. L. Evans R.A.M.C. And I believe he has mentioned your name in connection with the The University Lodge of Masons of which he was a member. We are holding a debate on the subject. "Resolved that the Conscription in Great Britain is preferable to the volunteer system and I am leader of the negative. I would be much obliged if you would kindly send me a few points in favour of volunteer system. The Debate is held on Jan. 31.

Thanking you in advance. I am

January 18th, 1916

Mr. George Evans,

Box 235,

St. Mary's, Ont.

Dear Mr. Evans:

I am afraid that I am not able to be of much service to you in regard to your debate. Personally I am inclined to think that in the circumstances of this war the compulsory system has advantages and at least that the criticism of the voluntary system has not. However, there are certain advantages that the voluntary system has for its own sake; and it has been shown that the great multitude of the British people are willing to sacrifice themselves voluntarily for a noble cause. The conscription in Britain and the Dominions beyond the seas has been a great boon to the Continent of Europe as an incentive to the loyalty of Britain and her overseas Dominions is found at heart. This it seems to me is one of the strongest reasons in favour of the voluntary system as hitherto it has been exhibited. Furthermore, historically Britain has been opposed to conscript armies, maintaining that the civil forces should never be originated by the military forces except in some time of great stress like the present, and I suppose that Britain will never abandon that view.

Presumably, Sir John Simon, who has opposed conscription, believes that even modified conscription as introduced now for the definite purpose, might react upon this practice and conviction of the British people. I imagine that is the root of his opposition.

Presumably also a voluntary army might have a higher morale in fighting than a conscript army, though this may be very doubtful also in view of the fighting qualities and splendid tone of the French army which is a conscript army.

I do not know whether these views would be of any service to you. Please do not mention my name in connection with the debate.

Yours,

Yours sincerely,

W. S. S. S.

My Dear Dean Ferry:

It was a pleasure to get your letter this morning and to renew with it the memory of our very enjoyable intercourse at Philadelphia. We look back upon those days with a great deal of pleasure. It is very kind of you to keep in mind what I said to you about vacancies in our staff. We shall undoubtedly before long need to fill a vacancy in German, and I am very glad to have the name of Theodore Brown Hewitt who having your strong endorsement must I am sure be a valuable man. I am afraid, however, that owing to our financial conditions through a large diminution of students on account of the war that we must work on our way next winter pretty much as we are. I will send your letter to the Head of our German Department and ask him what he thinks the chances are for the fairly near future. Students have dropped off in large numbers and if the war should continue into the autumn there will be very few men students left.

We are watching with intense interest the development in connection with President Wilson's note and speech. It seems to me doubtful whether a proud nation like Germany will be willing to give up her methods. I must say that I almost hope she will not because it must bring the war to an end more quickly than otherwise. With kind regards, I am, 404 West 116th Street, New York City.

May 30th 1916.

The President of Toronto University,
Toronto, Canada.

Dear Sir:

As a graduate student in Economics and Chemistry at Columbia University, I wish to inquire concerning the opportunity for teaching in Toronto University during the coming year.

I graduated from Barnard College in 1913, with the degree of B.A. While there, I pursued a general cultural course, emphasizing History and Modern Languages. The following two years, I spent at Bryn Mawr College, 1913-1914, as Graduate Scholar, 1914-1915, as Fellow in Economics. During these years, my work included seminar courses in Economics, History, Politics, and Education - Methods and Observation work.

This year as University Scholar and candidate for M.A. at Columbia, I have worked under Dr. Wesley C. Mitchell in Business Cycles and also on current Economic Theories; under Professor E.R. Seligman in the Science of Finance, and in the department of Applied Economics, now known as the new School of Business, under Dr. S.S. Huebner I have studied Markets and Exchanges, including not only the marketing of stocks and bonds, but also the great staple commodities as Cotton, Wheat, Live-stock, and Metals.

My special subject for investigation has been the Distribution of Food-stuffs, and the problems of city markets. As a scientific basis for this study, following a general course in Chemistry at Barnard College, I have taken courses both at Bryn Mawr College and this year at Columbia, in Analytical and Organic Chemistry, Physiological Chemistry, Food Chemistry and under Dr. Henry C. Sherman, in the Chemistry of Food and Nutrition including the legal aspects of adulteration and food industries. This academic work has been supplemented by practical experience in the Bureau of Food and Drugs of the New York City Board of Health, investigating the amount and kind of food-stuffs which come into New York at the various ports of entry, such as railroad terminals, steamship piers, etc.

If there is likely to be any opportunity for one with such training to give instruction in the regular field of Economics, or to assist in laboratory work, I should be glad to have you consider me as an applicant.

Very truly yours,

Marjorie Louise Franklin

Hamilton.

Dear Mr. Case:

I have read with very much interest your son's letter and I am glad to get an inkling into the experiences that he has been having in France. I regret however that we are helpless to do anything as a University in the way of securing his release. The only students who have been sent back to the University as far as I know are Medical students of the fourth and fifth years, who have been sent back by the War Office. Even those who were referred to in the House a few weeks ago were under orders from the Militia Department and it was not our doing that these arrangements were made. Medical students of the first three years are not allowed by the War Office to return. In one or two other instances people have applied to me but in each case I have had to give the same answer. His only channel of procedure would be through Ottawa. Please give him my kind regards when you write to him.

Yours sincerely,

President.

TO MR. THOMAS LAY COLCHER :

Mr. H. G. Gardiner is I understand applying for a Commission in the Army and he has asked me to give him a letter in support of his application. This I do with good pleasure. Mr. Gardiner has been a good student of the University in the Faculty of Arts and is well recommended by those who have had most to do with him. I am told that he has an ability and everything that I have heard of his character leads me to believe that the country will be fortunate in securing his services as an officer.

Dear Sir:

I have received your letter asking for help from the University of Toronto for the Committee of the Red Cross who are giving help to the wounded in Dijon. We are very anxious to be of what help we can in the University and join with others in Canada in contributing to various funds. I am afraid, however, that we cannot contribute directly to your aid, but we are contributing to our own Red Cross which I understand has made a large contribution to the French Red Cross. Could you not secure help through them? We are also contributing to the Secours National. Would they be able to help you in any way? It is simpler for us to give anything we have to give through these larger funds.

Allow me to assure you that we sympathize with you deeply in what you are suffering, and admire the spirit in which France is conducting her campaign. Three of our French Professors have been fighting in France and one has now returned as his health gave out. Hoping for a speedy victory, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

I am sending you a little book which I thought I should like to send you as a Christmas gift.
I am quickly the season for the year. Mr. Falconer and I are in sending our warmest greetings to Mrs. Gerrans and yourself. We hope that you are both keeping well.

The war conditions are affecting us now quite seriously. The students are leaving in large numbers.

he has gone over. I hope that he will return safe and sound.

Dear Mr. Cisson:

Very thanks for the names that you have given to me. I shall write to some of them, though I hesitate a little in writing to a soul whom I do not know at all.

You will be glad to know that I have received new subscriptions of $100 from Mr. A. J. Barry and Mr. A. C. Pease. Mr. Parkin has contributed $100 a year for several years. I have $1200 which I want to use, and possibly, I may be able to recover the $2000.

I did not write to Walter Kerfoot whom you mentioned, as I hesitated to ask one who is really not a Canadian or on whom we have so little claim.

With many thanks for your letter, and with kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Gentlemen:

I have your letter stating that you have received an order for a uniform from Flight-Lieutenant W. Drew Hudson. Mr. Hudson is a student of this University, comes from one of our Boys' Schools, and belongs to one of the best of the College Fraternities. I should judge that Mr. Hudson is an entirely trustworthy young man, as least we have no evidence to the contrary in the University.

Dear Mr. Gray:

I will to-morrow bring before the Board of Governors your request for consideration by the Board of Governors of the University in view of your desire to enlist. Hitherto the Governors have credited half pay to those who are going on active service. The number, however, has increased so rapidly that the expense that is involved, particularly in the University Schools, is such that they may have to reconsider their action. I hope, however, to be able to let you know in a few days as to what their decision will be.

Had I earlier understood matters as the Faculty viewed them I would not for anything have done what I did.

Under the above circumstances your letter still showing confidence in me is most gratifying. I trust you may fully understand how deeply I appreciate it.
